

Allegri: Miserere
16 Of 'Crooks & crooks': that's the sub-title of one of Cardinal Basil Hume's chapters in his book "To be a Pilgrim". A spiritual notebook, published by St Paul Publications in 1984. "Many people simply cannot face up to the demands of the Gospel," says Cardinal Hume, "either because the ideal seems far beyond them..."

QQ. in p 68 f

And here let's take a short break from Cardinal Hume, to pray first with this music: an evening prayer of the 16th Century English composer William Mundy, "O Lord the Maker of All Things"

MUSIC:

PRAYERS.

For choice of one of the pilgrim psalms now, this is Ps 119: among treacherous strangers. For as we pray this Old Testament psalm, it's a prayer against our own selfish selves too

QQ Ps 119.

And to conclude again

with Cardinal Hume: QQ. id p 71

Tudor Antems
26