ANGELUS

"He who is rightly has done great things for me, and holy is His name"
"And Mary kept all these things in her heart". The work of God, what He has done for us, for the world, in Christ - what He continues to do today, though we don't always recognise His hand - these are the first call on Christian gratitude, it's around these that Christian prayer revolves, because it's into these mysteries of God's care and love for us that our faith has drawn us. These mysteries are what we celebrate in the public liturgy - prayer of the Church - they should be also the starting point of our private prayer, and the subject matter of Christian meditation, contemplation and reflection. One way of doing this is by praying the hourary → MP 52
