

Notto Teras's
Prayer

OUR FATHER

Today we might call it psychology: but the simple ideas of the piece I want to read for you this noon-time were written long long before that word got its present meaning. From the spiritual teaching of an ancient monk, St Dorotheus, — which perhaps also has wider application than you might think at first. QQ

Rev I Wk 9 Mon p 605f

A little break from St Dorotheus now, to hear a prayer: Lord Have Mercy — the Kyrie of Dorotheus' Missa can Jubilo
