

When from Exile
(id 15)

"When from our exile God brings us home again" — this song, based on one of the psalms is also a suitable sentiment for prayer on this holiday afternoon which is named for liberation. "Liberation", "freedom" are popular ideas, but often they don't seem to mean the same thing to different people: there are so many different, even conflicting notions of what liberation is. Christ came to make us all free, from sin and death (as the traditional, new testament wording puts it); and the Bible it, in a way, the whole story of God freeing His people to be His people. So in prayer this day, let's think on that too, and listen now to this song: "If
