

This Joyful Eastertide EASTER PREFACE

(HMV-E. 1126
24)

The festival of Eastertide is nearing its fulness at Pentecost: and later this week we mark the 40th Day of Easter, the Day of the Ascension of the Lord. So it's not too early, too soon, to reflect in our recitation and prayer on the Holy Spirit and the Church. Indeed, the coming of the Spirit and the gathering of the Church is the meaning of Easter, in one sense. So we begin reflection today with a reference to Holy Week: at the last supper Christ told his apostles → RR. Maurice Nasson
